Description

When a student completes studying a module and proceeds to take the corresponding quiz, the website crashes after the quiz submission. As a result:

- The quiz results are not displayed to the student.
- The system incorrectly marks the quiz as completed.
- The next module is automatically unlocked, allowing the student to proceed without knowing their score.

This behavior prevents students from reviewing their performance and deciding whether to revise certain parts of the current module before moving on.

Steps to reproduce

1. Go to Sprints.com
2. Search for "Sprints x Microsoft Summer Camp - Software Testing"
3. Click on "Go to learning page"
4. Click on "Quiz" of any module
5. Solve the quiz
6. Click on "Submit"
7. Quiz results not displayed; module marked as complete and next module unlocked

Expected result

After submitting the quiz, the system should display the quiz results, including correct/incorrect answers, before marking the quiz as complete and unlocking the next module.

Actual result

- The website crashes immediately after quiz submission.
- The quiz is automatically marked as "done" without showing the results.
- The system advances the student to the next module.

Impact

- Students cannot see their performance or learn from mistakes.
- Progress tracking and learning quality are compromised.
